If you would win success in the growing of bulbs, you must have bulbs of highest quality and of the best varieties. Otherwise, you have about as much chance of winning as would a poor cripple on a crutch in a Marathon race. So why grow the poor and the cheap when the best often costs but very little more?

STRAWS SHOW WHERE BIG WINDS BLOW

A good bloom is a mighty good indication of a good bulb at the bottom of the spike. Our bulbs are full of pep and produce prize-winning exhibition blooms both for us and for the many who have bought from us and who report fine success.

Giant Pansies Honored

Distinguished Party Visits Northernmost Pansy Beds. Left to right: A. F. Swenbsen, friend of Secretary Jardine, Boise, Idaho; George A. Parks, Governor of Alaska, Juneau, Alaska; William DeWitt Mitchell, Solicitor General of the United States, Washington, D. C.; William Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Henry O'Malley, United States Commissioner of Fisheries, Washington, D. C.; James T. Jardine, brother of the Secretary, Washington, D. C.; Charles H. Flory, United States Commissioner of Agriculture in Alaska, Juneau, Alaska; V. I. Hahn, Superintendent of the White Pass & Yukon Railroad, Skagway, Alaska.

THE Oregon Giants, pansies originated by Mrs. Merton G. Ellis, Canby, Oregon, are grown to perfection in Skagway, Alaska, by C. O. Walker, "The Most Northern Florist in the World," "Where the Flowers, Glaciers, and Furs Meet," as his letter head reads.

Three years ago he grew pansies but not the Oregon Giants. That summer he received a visit from Mr. and Mrs. B. Lloyd Ellis of Portland. They were simply amazed at the wonderful beauty and size of his other flowers but informed him that he could do better with his pansies if he tried the Oregon Giants, originated by their sister-in-law, Mrs. Merton G. Ellis. Always on the lookout for something better in flowers, he forthwith ordered a packet of seeds. His results were marvelous and the next season when the same visitors returned, they were even more amazed to find even larger pansies than they usually see when visiting at Canby, the home of the Oregon Giants. Needless to say they received a warm welcome from this most hospitable florist. Each time their boat sailed, they found a huge bouquet from him in their cabin.

Mr. Walker has increased his planting of the Oregon Giants each year. In a recent letter he says:

"It may be of interest to you to have me tell you that I have had wonderful success with the pansies this year, and they have been a wonder to the many thousands of tourists that have seen them, and there have been hundreds of the blossoms sent away by the tourists that measured four inches in diameter. I have a border of pansies all around the flower garden, and several solid beds of pansies. I always show a little courtesy by giving all my visitors a pansy or two, and you would be surprised to see the amount of business this will bring.

"I had an honored visit on August 17th, from several heads of our nation from Washington, D. C., and among the party was Secretary of Agriculture William Jardine. He was interested in everything, and said he had never seen such pansies in his whole life. The enclosed picture of the party taken among the flowers may be of interest."

"To Comfort Thee" A Book of Verse

A WEALTH of tender sentiment with much which will appeal to the lover of flowers and home will be found in a little book of verse which just came to our editorial desk. It is the compilation of the best in the life's work of Mrs. Frank A. Breck of Portland and is entitled "To Comfort Thee."

Mrs. Breck is the author of upwards of 1500 songs and there are few Sunday school song books which do not contain some of her work, deeply religious in nature and beautiful in sentiment. She has written many poems which have been published in such magazines as The Youth's Companion, Christian Herald and flower publications. This book is just off the press and is in response to the request of Mrs. Breck's many friends for selections of her work.

The book, containing 200 of Mrs. Breck's best poems, sells for $1.25 and may be ordered from J. K. Gill & Co., Meier & Frank Co., or the Methodist Book Concern, all of Portland, or direct from the author, whose address is 384 E. 42nd St., North, Portland.

Illustrative of Mrs. Breck's work, we are reprinting three of her shorter and best known verses:

BABY'S GRAVE

I PLANTED hyacinths last fall
On baby's little grave—
Dear boy—whose life, no tears, no prayers,
Nor love itself could save.

The bulbs I planted there, were placed
Deep in their earthly tomb,
In hope that spring would see them graced
With fair and fragrant bloom.

They waited long in dark and cold—
Those bulbs so dry and brown,
But oh, the spring has come at last,
My grave with bloom to crown.

And spring shall come again to me,
Though hope is still denied,
But in heaven's garden I shall see
My baby glorified.

Oh, let my heart be patient, then,
For God will answer prayer,
And give my darling back again,
A thousand times more fair.

BIRTH OF A ROSE

A BEAUTIFUL thought from God one day
Went forth through chartless space—
Sure, swift, unswerving on its way,
To find on earth a place.
It cleft a path unheard, unseen,
Unfelt—but fraught with power;
It caught the rainbow hues serene—
Air, sunshine, dew and shower.
'Mid fair green leaves, morn, night and noon,
I waited with repose;
And then, one perfect day in June,
It bloomed—a fragrant rose.

MY WEALTH

NO one may dare to call me poor,
Or say wealth is not mine,
When, waiting just outside my door,
Are blossom, tree and vine.

Our bulbs are grown on a fine sandy loam, in Oregon, the home of fine bulbs. We use NEW soil each year. The bulbs are carefully cultivated, irrigated, and finally, when dug, they are cured and placed in storage in shallow trays with fly screen bottoms, in our commodious frost-proof bulb house, where they await your orders.
